FOREWORD

This 1957 SARGASSO features you, the Earlhamite, as the actor in the re-enactment of the play which has been fulfilled this past year. The setting is the familiar Earlham Campus. Life itself presents us with the story. Your parents, your friends, your college chums -- they are the audience. You too, may sneak into the audience to evaluate your achievements. At Earlham, as in any play, the impossible seems to have been conquered because the actors were guided by the able producers and directors who were for us, the administration and faculty of our college.

Although the critic's columns spotlight a few, this review features the man behind the scenes and the fellow enjoying the intermissions as well as the stars of the show. Teamwork has meant for us, the successful run of the 1956-57 college year.

And the ending? That is again up to you. With a sense of life's possibilities you know the goals that are afar. We, the Sargasso staff, hope that the curtain will be held up until each and every one of you achieves the role in life to which you are called.

DEDICATION

Thomas E. Jones

Landrum Bolling

Just as props are necessary to the production of a successful play, the "props", or buildings at Earlham are essential to the fulfillment of its educational and spiritual goals. Ten years ago when President Jones came to us he began an expansion program which was to provide Earlham with several badly needed "props" to replace the inefficient and inadequate ones that existed at that time. Since 1946, ten new buildings have been added to Earlham's campus. They have come as the result of the work of many who gave their time and their efforts because they were devoted to furthering the purpose of Earlham. We owe much for that magnificant achievement to Tom Jones and to hundreds of volunteer workers - alumni, Quakers, and friends of Earlham - who helped with the task. Special recognition and appreciation should go to Robert Huff, who carried much of the job of co-ordinating the fund-raising campaign and establishing public relations; to Rufus Allen, who served well as the chairman of the Board of Trustees during the period of these drives; and to Vice President Paul Furnas, who supervised the actual construction work which made these dreams a reality.

But Earlham has not come to a stand-still. Even now the College is taking a look into the next ten years and is doing some long-range planning about increased endowment, added annual income and certain additional facilities the campus is going to need. Landrum Bolling, as General Secretary of the College, and several faculty committees are carrying much of the responsibility for these continuing development projects. They work under the direction of two Co-Chairmen of the new Development Committee, Trustees Ralph Teetor and Dwight Young, who are building a broad team of enthusiastic workers for Earlham's future growth. The major objectives right now are to increase the flow of contributions so necessary if Earlham is to keep a high-level faculty and to maintain a quality educational program. In addition, it is hoped that funds will be found to provide a fine arts building including an adequate theatre-auditorium, a new library or a substantial addition to the old one, and new quarters for women's physical education and the home economics program. This very tentative planning will be subject to revision as the needs are more clearly seen.

Realizing how much each of us personally has benefited from the growth and advancement of the physical aspects of Earlham, we wish to pay special tribute to the progress that has been made by the addition of these new "props" to our campus in the last ten years and to express our appreciation to the many people who have worked and planned and given to make these things possible.

Dean of Women

As Dean of Women, Miss French serves as guardian of the girls' dorms. Whether observing an A.W.S. meeting or the A.M.R. organizing at night, her interest in the girls allows her to be an effective counselor and good friend. Her spacious parlors and late hours make possible her well-known phrase, "Come up and see me sometime."

GLADYS J. NEAL
Resident Counselor

Miss Neal, to whom all out-of-town slips are referred, is particularly available to the freshmen for counseling. Working closely with A.W.S. officers and counselors, she is known for her ever-present smile and her warm personality.

BEHIND

SHOW

STAGE

ANNETTA COLLINS
Miss Collins, a familiar figure in the dining hall, is known by students for her enthusiastic aid in preparing lunches and meals for picnics, trips, and parties. Her constant drive, her endless patience, and her desire to please make her a favorite on our stage.

Responsible for the meals at Earlham, the kitchen workers work long hours and are busy before the rest of the college arises. The facilities of new Earlham Hall will be a blessing to this group next year!

Mrs. Oggier, Housekeeper, finds her job a demanding one. She too, will breathe a sigh of relief as old Earlham Hall's plumbing becomes a memory.

Mrs. ESTHER BALDWIN
A good friend of all those who have been in the infirmary, Mrs. Baldwin has this year been responsible for "sticking" the students for their polio shots. Cheerful and understanding, she is a confidant of many Earlham students.

Maintenance men are indispensable as our production takes its form. Exemplified by these friendly workers are the other electricians, carpenters, and painters who prepare out set.

HANDS

Relocated in the basement of Carpenter, the redecorated bookstore has been a welcome addition to the campus scene. With a more complete selection of books and incidentals, it promises to fulfill the needs of the students and to stimulate further interest in pleasure reading.

Student Placement Director
Bob Potter
Junior Bob Potter, from his office in the basement of Carpenter, directs the filling of campus and off-campus jobs. A rise in tuition which has prompted higher student salaries will increase the work of the Placement Director next year.

Ned Cook (left) a familiar figure to Earlhamites these past years, has resigned as postmaster. Although his smiles and "Hi" will be missed by us all, our new postman, Mr. Holder, is already a friend of the Earlham Community.

BIOLOGY STAFF
William Stephenson, James Cope, Gertrude Ward, Carrolle Markle, and Murvel Garner.

AGRICULTURAL SCIENCE STAFF
Ray Trayer and friends on the Earlham Farm.

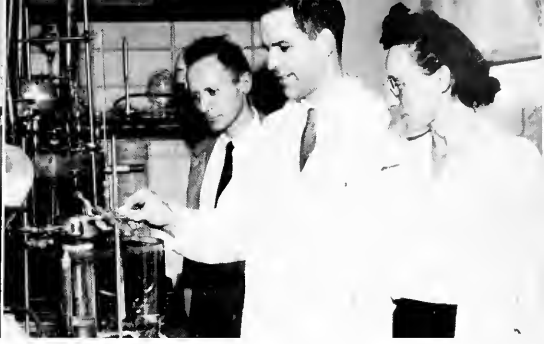
NATURAL

Housed in Dennis Hall, the Natural Sciences Division embraces one aspect of our integrated liberal educational endeavor. Besides the classroom work and the requisite laboratories, such things as the Geology field trip, Dewart Lake Project, and work on the Earlham farm give the future scientists a chance to become acquainted with working conditions in their major field.

This snake seems to intrigue both Jim Cope and Myron Vourax.

Concentration plus the desire to learn, as shown by these science students, is indicative of the Earlham spirit.

GEOLOGY STAFF
Ansel Gooding and James Thorp



CHEMISTRY STAFF
Theodore Benfey, Lawrence Strong and Milka Radoicich.

SCIENCES

Earlham's science department is well-known because of its highly skilled faculty and their interest in the "stars" of the future, and for its well-equipped Dennis Hall. Long but rewarding hours are spent in the labs where effort is the important factor. While personal accomplishments cannot be measured as such, those results which are tangible are evident in the Earlham Museum which attracts many visitors. Science fairs and exhibitions often find their way to our stage for their first showing.

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

Curtain calls at last for the four-year troopers! Perhaps the chance to run our own show was all the Class of '57 needed to blossom forth into gold-star players and managers.

Though the stage was in something of an upheaval for very welcome set improvements the stars remained calm and sure-footed through the tests of Homecoming, the routing miscombobulations of Commencement planning, the strain of Comprehensives, and at last through the grand performance of June ninth.

We smiled at our unspectacular reputation when the challenge of our last undergraduate Homecoming turned on the pressure, and let fly with that final spurt of energy we knew ALL good runners and Derby winners save for the home stretch. Dark horse or no, we took win and place in the Float and clean-up contests!

After opening our float campaign with a picnic at the Perfect Hideout, MILES from campus, search parties of jealous understudies chased Senior builders through two new locations, until we finally found refuge in the old home of our Junior float and put together the "Landslide Victory for Earlham." Unsuccessful at sabotage, a group of beanied bit players concentrated their efforts and traditional shoveling techniques on smearing the spotlessly raked Heart, but the stars accepted their runner-up position with dignity.

We refused to play prima donna through any of our most important year. The special personal interest each of us felt in seeing new Earlham Hall develop and in helping to make plans for it with the stars-to-be was reflected in our careful fostering of the enthusiasm and affection that will warm the new raw building into a part of the scene we've known and loved.

The activities and emotions with living through one's senior year added up to a unique experience for most of us. This final year of college was unquestionably a busy one with completing our major fields of study, and assuming leadership in many extra-curricular activities. But as the year wore on, there were times when we began to feel that three years of exams, papers, and eight o'clocks had been enough! And something about those spring days left more than one Senior feeling about ready to burst as he muttered, puzzled, "But I took a light load this semester on PURPOSE!"

But when the curtain dropped, and we walked down from Chase Stage, we were looking forward to all the promised results of our college years: graduate school for some, jobs for others, and marriage for a starry-eyed majority.

TO THE CLASS OF 1957:

Because you were able to shine forth as true "stars" in spite of the adverse weather conditions which plagued your senior year, in spite of the time consuming activities in which you have carried the lead, we the underclassmen congratulate you.

As underclassmen in supporting roles we hope that we will be able to achieve the goals which have been attained by your class this year. As the Spotlight shines upon one and then another, we realize your individual attributes which are still being applauded by the audience. Now as you step into the audience of the professional world may the cues of your four year run remain with you.

With these words we bid you adieu, wishing you clear sailing as you carry out the role for which you have prepared yourselves here at Earlham.

JUNIORS

CLASS HISTORY

Immediately after the school year started our junior class officers staged a surprise dorm "open house", introducing themselves and the year's program to each of us. The effects of that campaign were seen a few days later at our class sing, when a record number of Juniors "bunny-hopped" to the orchard and sang with blissful ignorance amidst the poison ivy.

A sock-hop which we sponsored for our sister class, provided us with dancing music and plenty of rock'n roll including Earlham's Elvis.

As Homecoming time approached we were faced with the ever recurring problem, a missing class flag. However, a mysterious package containing our flag arrived just at the crucial moment. The culprit? . . . "Ma" Baker. As far as Homecoming was concerned, our class of '58 "racked up" the honors in the Campus clean up. Next year we'll win the float contest!

A cool, crisp night in November saw us piling into two wagons for our Junior Hayride. That hot cocoa certainly tasted good when it FINALLY came. Here our song leading vice-president led us for the last time before leaving for that "Band of Gold" land.

Because of the crowded calendar and difficult camping situations in the winter, it was necessary to cancel the proposed class outing in favor of a culture caravan. Two chartered buses took us to Cincinnati to see "Seven Wonders of the World" in Cinerama. We traveled thru South America, Japan, India, the Holy Land, and our own U.S. in just two hours. What a class trip that was!

As the seniors faced comprehensives we looked with apprehension toward our senior year. However, encouraged by the class motto to "aim high" we successfully completed our junior year in preparation for THE year ahead. The final gathering of this eventful year was when we were honored by the Freshmen at the Freshman-Junior picnic.

SOPHOMORES

CLASS HISTORY

In accordance with our motto "From Here to Triumph" we sophomores began the first week of school with a get-together for singing and refreshments in the faculty bowl. This long planned for event led us with a bang into a wonderful year full of numerous activities and memories of working together.

When Homecoming came along in October, Joy Bard and Joe Thompson, our able co-chairmen, led us in a noble fight for the honor of making the best float. We were surely "Pulling for a Win in '56" when we marched proudly down Route 40 vigorously shouting our class songs and cheers.

Even though we gained no prize for our efforts we were successful in drawing closer together as a class.

November brought us a very successful hayride to Camp Clements in spite of the chilly weather. In line with the spirit of Thanksgiving, the class promoted a Thanksgiving worship service in the Meetinghouse. Professor Hole gave us a valuable message.

As a living tribute to David Kenworthy, who was one of our most outstanding members, a tree will be planted in front of new Earlham Hall in his memory. We are also planning to take over as a project, the David Kenworthy Memorial Scholarship Fund. We want later to make it a part of our alumni contributions.

Instead of the customary dance which the Sophomores have every year in March, we decided to change the pace and give a carnival. Among the fifteen booths were various sorts of fun such as "dunk-the-person, a turtle race, a magician, a faculty skit, and a hula dance. We finished off the successful evening with informal dancing.

As the year drew to a close in May we planned the traditional Sophomore-Senior Banquet which was lots of fun as usual. But because of the big May Day this year we decided to omit "Hecky Dern Day" from our activities.

As we look back over the year and our class activities we have a strong realization that we've done many worthwhile things and that each of us had contributed in some way to "Triumph."

FRESHMEN

CLASS HISTORY

With open eyes and ears and ready minds, we started off our Earlham careers with Freshman Week. That was the week of tests, beanies, tests, meetings, tests, and parties. Soon after, the upper classmen arrived and we, still bearing our beanies, were swept into the tide of Earlham life. Our first opportunity to show the other classes our abilities came at Homecoming. Once again we donned our beanies, and with a lot of determination and a lot more fight, we cleaned up our section of the campus. It took some perserverance to build our float. Twice around was the charm, and coupled with our class spirit, it won second place in "Tiv Rush".

We survived semester finals quite well and returned to tackle the second semester with a few resolutions and renewed enthusiasm. After a week of academic classes, we had a class party. We spent the evening dusting the floor of Trueblood Fieldhouse with our socks and enjoying the entertainment. At this time, we received our first introduction to the original musical show written by two members of our class.

The show was called "House Divided" and the songs were so close to our daily lives that they were ringing in our ears months afterwards. There were echos of "Oh, I Owe Mr. Gibby Six Papers and I've Used Up My Share of the Late Pers . . . " and "Everythings up to date in Earlham Hall now. . .". The proceeds of the show were used to help the Hungarian students.

While taking part in other activities, we kept hearing references to Old English May Day. It was the biggest Earlham event in several years and we each had the privilege of playing a part in it.

As the year came to a close, we had achieved one year of college education. We had listened, watched, and presented our own ideas in and out of class. One year was completed; three were ahead of us. Nevertheless, the class of 1960 had successfully taken a major step toward its goal of a liberal education.

Class Officers: Sue Collins, Treasurer; Mark Myers, Vice-President; Karen Hansen, Secretary; Ward Trueblood, President; Virginia Haisley, Women's Social Chairman. ABSENT was Dave Kessler, Men's Social Chairman.

HUNGARIAN STUDENTS

This year Earlham has had the pleasure of being one of the fifteen American colleges to take part in the English Language Training Program For Hungarian Students. Twenty Hungarian students were enrolled as special students during the second semester for the purposes of learning to speak English and of becoming familiar with the American way of life. Ranging scholastically from pre-college to graduate level, these students have had the opportunity of living with American roommates who further introduced them to American ways. The cooperation of Earlham students and faculty as well as that of the Richmond community has added much to the success of this program. Earlham is especially grateful to Mrs. Loureide Biddle who is in charge of Earlham's program and to Mrs. Margaret Biedler who is helping the students with English.

POST GRADUATES AND UNCLASSIFIED STUDENTS

Included among Earlham's special students are those taking courses at Earlham but not having regular class standing. Other such students are post graduates who, although continuing work in undergraduate courses, have already obtained their bachelor's degrees.

ACT I

Freshman week is well remembered by every new student. "Hey, you gotta buy a beanie." "I'm your counselor." "I'll carry that trunk."

There are all the exams, meetings and introductions . . . "Where's your name tag?" "But why do we have meetings all day long?"

NEW STUDENT WEEK

Then there is fun. Faculty-at-home parties, Glenn Miller park outing, President's reception and dance, Activity's Fair, Tri-Day Trials and Kangaroo Kourt. "Who swiped the white beanies?" "I know you'd LOVE to join the college band." WHISTLE - "Fight song everyone." Class of '60.

We are fortunate indeed to have opportunities where students and faculty can share fun and fellowship. This close relationship between the student body and the faculty is unique and cherished by us all.

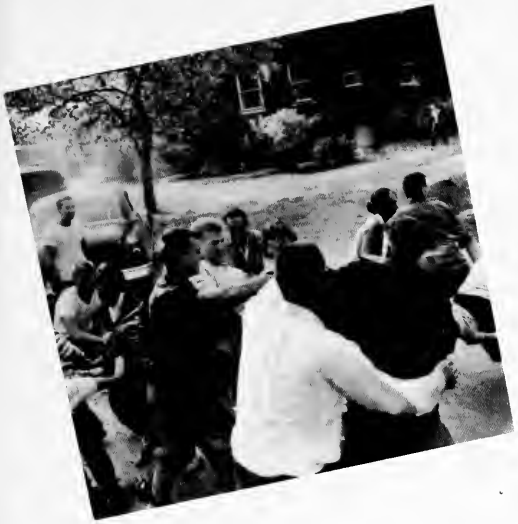
HOMECOMING QUEEN AND COURT

Bunny does her share in the campus clean-up.

The Queen of the 1956-57 Homecoming was Bunny Heafield. Bunny is a junior mathematics major from Houghton, Michigan. She is known on campus for her friendly smile and winning personality.



Traditionally the day before Earlham's Homecoming celebration all classes are dismissed and the entire student body, with rakes in hand, cleans the leaves from the campus. The different classes are assigned specific areas to clean and a contest for the best job is held. Meanwhile there is no stopping the leaf fights and general horseplay which always accompanies this contest.

The Queen is officially crowned between halves of the football game. At this time the class floats are paraded for all to see.

HANDICAPPED SWIMMING

THE CHRISTMAS SCENE

Since it is impossible for the Earlham Community to be together on Christmas Day the Christmas program is an ideal chance for both the faculty and students to join together in the spirit of Christmas and brotherly love.

The holiday celebration began with the burning of a Yule Log in the Meetinghouse fireplace and a Yuletide program. This was followed by the lighting of the Christmas Tree on the Heart. Greens were brought to the girls' dorms and all of the dorms decorated their halls and rooms. There was open house in all of the dormitories later in the evening followed by a dance in the fieldhouse.

ROUND BARN

Earlham's first off-campus social center.

Paul Bigelow and Warren Wanderer and a model of the Barn.

One of the more pressing problems on the campus this year was the need for more social activities, especially of an all-college nature.

The sophomore class under the direction of Paul Bigelow and Warren Wanderer secured the use of a Round Barn located several miles west on Route 40. Students cleaned and repaired the barn's two floors, making the bottom floor into an area for games and socializing, and clearing the top floor for dancing. The Barn was open Friday and Saturday evenings in the spring until midnight for the entire college community. Special entertainment such as faculty readings, jazz sessions, and singing groups were scheduled for certain nights. For those who needed transportation, there was always the college bus driven by patient Les Boyd.

The sophomore class of 1959 is to be congratulated not only for its class spirit but also for its school spirit. The foundations have been laid and the future is promising for social events of this nature for Earlhamites.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibby, as faculty chaperones, enjoy a round-table discussion with Dave Boren, Ruthie Townsend, and Don Lamb.

Earlhamites peer from the hayloft dance floor as the cameraman arrives.

ASSEMBLIES AND CHAPELS

The coffee hour for Dr. Rhine of Duke University, who spoke on Extra-sensory Perception, was so large it was held in the main room for worship rather than in the library as is the usual norm.

Earlham was fortunate to have Will Herburg, the noted Jewish author, for a week's sessions during the fall. Mr. Herburg lectured in classes, was available for discussions, and spoke in assembly as well as at the All-College Meeting on Sunday morning.

CAMPUS CHEST COMMITTEE

INTERNATIONAL STARS

Jean Towle gracefully portrays an Indian dance. Jean has lived in India where her parents remain as missionaries.

Celebrating the independence of Ghana is their own Nicholas Asare.

The Earlham audience was treated this year to an International Talent Night sponsored by the International Student Aid Committee. It not only proved to be an entertaining evening but it also proved to be one of the highlights of the year's productions. Foreign students at E.C. take an active part in campus activities and enrich the entire college program.

The Middle East is represented by Emad-Uddin Hasan Khaja and Wendell Mott, a native and a visitor respectively.

OLDE ENGLISH MAY DAY OF 1957

This is the story of Earlham's Olde English May Day - the preparations we made, the rehearsals, the decorations, the crowds, and finally the thrill of putting together a most successful and unique production.

This celebration here at Earlham is not new since it dates back to 1875 when only the women students participated. Each presentation of the pageant became larger and more elaborate until in 1906 the first authentic Olde English May Day was held with both men and women joining in the activities of the day. It is traditional that the role of Queen Elizabeth be played by the college president's wife who has the honor of presiding over the Revels on the Green.

PREPARATIONS

In front of Carp - 6:15 A. M.

Our four busy directors.

Long before THE DAY we found ourselves in the authentic Elizabethan atmosphere. We chose Margaret Guinness and John Owen to reign as May Queen and Robin Hoode. Things began taking shape soon afterward, and we had tryouts for the various plays to be shown around campus. On both April 30 and May 7 we spent a large part of the morning going through the performance. Then on May 17 we held our last rehearsal.

Clara Richardson supervises a fitting.

We checked the May Day bulletin board everyday

Time out for a box lunch.

We rehearsed plays nearly every night.

With rain all morning, we were afraid that our rehearsal would be rained out; but just prior to rehearsal time, the skies cleared and hundreds of costumed people thronged to the west of Carp to form the Procession.

Unfortunately, we weren't as lucky with weather conditions on the following day. Although decoration workers arose at 5:30 to greet sunny skies, clouds arrived on the scene about noon. Just at Procession time, the rain came down in buckets.

Earlham Hall decorated for its last May Day.

"Baa!"

All of us in the procession line scurried to the shelter of trees or retreated to Carp. During our stay in Carp we saw various forms of entertainment presented by Elizabethan characters. At the end of a wet two-hour wait, the appearance of the sun made it possible for the Procession and the Revels on the Green to proceed without further interruption. After a colorful and lively performance, the crowds dispersed to various points on campus where Plays and other features were presented.

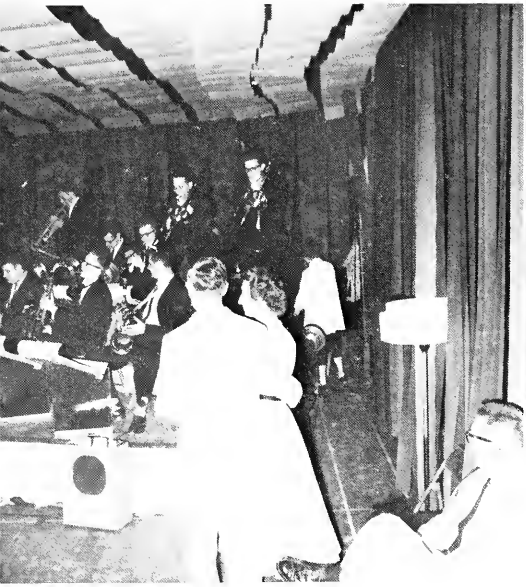
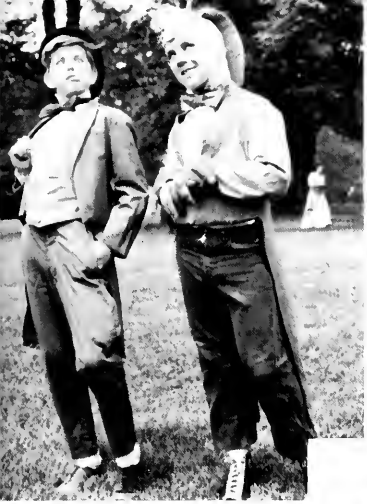
MAY QUEEN & ROBIN HOODE

This year Margaret Guinness of Geneva, Switzerland, and John Owen of Detroit, Michigan, served as May Queen and Robin Hoode. This is Margie's first year at Earlham where she is enrolled as a member of the Junior Class and is majoring in English. John, who is a member of the Senior Class, majored in speech and dramatics and took an active part in Mask and Mantle, the college dramatic club.



THE QUEEN'S BALL

May Day was climaxed by the Queen's Ball, held from 9:00 to 12:00 in Trueblood Fieldhouse by the Phoenix and Ionian Societies. At 10:30 P.M. John Owen officially crowned Margaret Guinness as Queen of the May. Members of The Royal Court watching the crowning were as follows: Gretchen Schultze, Ruth Ellen Prevo, Margaret Heafield, Ruth Reynolds, Von Peacock, Don Kitchens, Tom Newlin, and Jerry Michener. The music provided by Al Cobine brought to a close our perfect day in Merrie Olde Englande.



Duncan Curtis as the Mad Hatter, and Douglas Fuson as the March Hare (ears wilted) on rehearsal day.

Divided by centuries: Boy Meyne, as himself, and Robbie, Kathie, and Wauneta as sixteenth century notables.

CHEERLEADERS

Our very capable cheering squad was headed this year by Phoebe Perry. Six devoted and enthusiastic girls livened up the games and did their best to support the team. Appearing at the games in various combinations of their maroon and white uniforms, they organized the cheering section and stimulated all of the spectators to support the team. Their major efforts were the pep rally before the Anderson game, their leadership at Tiv Rush, the bonfire rally before the Taylor game, and the decoration of the field at Homecoming. At home and away these Earlham cheerleaders loyally served the football team and the college. In this sport as in all others which they supported, the yells and the spirit were indicative of their valuable efforts.

Hillary Moore, Ann Linder, Michey O'Connor, Sue Butler, Carol Dayson, Phoebe Perry.

E. C. 7 ANDERSON 55
The pitiful lack of depth and experience of the 23 man squad was startingly revealed when injuries sidelined Wolters and King from the line and Sawyer and Clark from the backfield in the second half. Earlham matched touchdowns with the Ravens in the second quarter, but was down two at the half. Regulars Meier and Olson in the line and quarterback Hitchcock were standouts although E.C. could not hold Anderson in the second half.

E.C. 6 TAYLOR 40
The squad's precision and spirit were much improved over the Anderson game, but Taylor's strong line wore the squad down with long drives. Once again Clark and Sawyer were unable to play the second half. Jim Coffin was also out. Inexperienced reserves were not effective while Taylor scored with long gains. Meier and Olson again stood out as did Duff at offensive end. Earlham's touchdown was made on a 45 yard pass from Hitchcock to Duff.

E. C. 14 FRANKLIN 43
Confusion in the backfield cost Earlham a safety early in the game but the squad fought back with a 33-yard pass from halfback Dave Kenworthy to Buzz Duff to stay within eight points of Franklin at the half. Duff and Al Kerler did a fine job of receiving passes, and the Earlham line, led by Wolters, Olson, Meier, and Peacock, played well. Hitchcock did not play and Sawyer and Clark saw only limited action. Freshman Phil Young, who has had to carry much of the load in the injury-plagued backfield this year, scored early in the fourth quarter, but Franklin sweeps of 27,18, and 67 yards and a 27 yard pass, the last two in the final four minutes against E.C. reserves, put victory out of reach.

E.C. 19 GEORGETOWN 20
Earlham's offense got rolling for its best showing, and at the half, with a favorable 19-7 score, it looked as though the first win of the season was in sight. The offense carried to the Georgetown 5-yard line in four plays, and then halfback Dave Kenworthy went over for the first touchdown. Herb Sawyer took a handoff and went 53 yards on the outside midway through the second quarter after Georgetown had tied the score at seven all. Minutes before the half, Eric Clark grabbed a blocked field goal attempt and went 79 yards to put Earlham ahead by twelve points at half-time. The offense was held to 18 yards in the second half and Georgetown fought back for two touchdowns. With the conversion on the last score, three minutes before the final whistle, they put the game away.

E.C. 13 HANOVER 67
Although outmanned, E.C. showed an effective game against the Hanover first team throughout the second half after trailing 47-0 at the half. The offense managed 16 first downs and 260 yards against the strongest team in the Conference. Although the Hanover starting squad played almost all of the game to avenge last year's defeat by Earlham, the second half was a far more even contest which went to Hanover 20-13. Touchdowns came on passes from Hitchcock to Kenworthy for 25 yards and Sawyer to Hitchcock for 33 yards. Hanover ran for long gains in the first half which put the game out of reach for E.C.

E.C. 7 MANCHESTER 41
After playing to a seven-all tie at half, Earlham bogged down and Manchester dominated the game for their first victory over Earlham in several years. Manchester scored first after being stopped on the Earlham one foot line and then recovering an E.C. fumble. Clark went over from the four yard line to even the score in the second quarter. Manchester fired up in the second half and swept the ends and passed for long yardage and four consecutive touchdowns through the air. Eric Clark played a fine game as linebacker and Coffin and Meir were outstanding in the line. Earlham, however, could only manage 170 yards all afternoon while Manchester rolled up 440 yards.

E.C. 16 WILMINGTON 6
Olson smashed through to plow the Wilmington quarterback into the end zone from the five yard line for a safety early in the game. The Ohio team fought back in the second quarter on a 55 yard pass-lateral play. One play after the kickoff Earlham went 53 yards on the same play, Clark to Duff to Sawyer, to lead 9-6 at half. Duff broke up a second half defensive battle with a lunging catch in the end zone of a 30 yard Hitchcock pass. Duff played an excellent game at offensive end. Meir and Olson were powers in the line and freshman Vern Smith, in his first start, played a tremendous game.

E.C. 20 INDIANA CENTRAL 49
Central scored first on a 55 yard march, but Clark copped a 60 yard march driving over from the six yard line just before the half. Injuries again proved disastrous in the second half. Smith was unable to play; Bowles and Coffin were finished, and Clark was hospitalized. Reserves couldn't fill the vacated positions and Central rolled up 42 points in the last two quarters. Sawyer kept Earlham in the game with a 92 yard kickoff return after E.C.'s third touchdown and later Dave Kenworthy, who played his finest game, plowed over from the six yard line. Credit went to Olson, Meir, DeWitt and Wolter who were tough in the line despite very little rest.

SOCCER

As the soccer season progressed "Matlack's Merry Men" developed into a well-knit organization, and for a while there were good chances of capturing the coveted Midwest Collegiate Soccer Conference title. With self-imposed training rules and fighting courage, the booters did put in a winning season and showed everyone that the Quakers were able to hold their own in the sport, playing a good, hard, clean game.

The eleven was able to beat University of Dayton 2-1, down the University of Chicago 7-2, top Indiana University 2-0, and trounce Ohio Wesleyan 8-0. The kickers tied with Kenyon and Weaton, both 1-1, and then bowed to Navy Pier 4-3 and Purdue 3-2. That made the year's total record 4-2-2; 2-0-1 non-conference and 2-2-1 conference.

Schneppat's left-footed prowess, the "Buzzmobile," the Otto's determination, Harris's bravery and reliability in the goal, and Bright's consistency -- all these assets were indicative of the 1956 season. Soccer became a spectator sport at E.C. this fall as the team received whole-hearted support from appreciative crowds.

The 1956 cross country season turned out to be quite a favorable one for Earlham. This can be partly attributed to the exceptionally good freshman material. Byron Knutsen, Ray Treadway, and Durwood Griffith, seasoned high school runners, lent an unexpected amount of strength to the team. Carl Smith and Amos Mills, though they did not make the team, showed fine running ability. Among the returning upperclassmen was Captain Jerry Rushton, who has been one of the strongest runners in the Conference during his four years at Earlham. Ted Folkerth proved to be a valuable member of the team as did Wayne Vinson and Doug Canady who ran very well and maintained respectable positions on the team.

The Quaker tennis team copped their sixth consecutive Conference Championship this fall. Well-balanced abilities and keen competition among the team members have proven to be important assets in making this team one of the finest ever to represent Earlham College. The team trounced almost all of their opponents this season including the toughest match which was against Indiana Central whom Earlham defeated 5-2. The racketmen also tied the former Earlham Conference record of fourteen consecutive wins when they defeated Hanover at the close of the season. The seniors on the team, Dave Spillman and John Osborn, have been stalwarts in inter-collegiate competition. Dave has won seventeen consecutive matches in four years of competition, and John has won twelve straight matches in two years of competition. The great team spirit and the determined efforts of the Quaker players have again been successful in achieving the trophy and the title of Conference Champions.

The 1956-57 season ended with the Quakers holding the highest won-lost mark ever accomplished by an E.C. team in the H.C.C. For the year, Earlham won seven and lost five, topping the 6-6 record established the previous year. Although it is easy to speculate, Earlham was very close to the H.C.C. title two times. Against Indiana Central, the Quakers led with forty seconds remaining when two wild baskets sent I.C. ahead to win. Against Anderson, another few seconds would have given Earlham a chance to get one decisive shot. It could have meant the title. Eric Clark, Duane Queener, Von Peacock and Tom Marvel will leave obvious vacancies on the squad next year.

VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball team of '57 was a team with exceptional potential, but had an average season. A late start along with Spring vacation prevented the team from developing this potential before the end of the season.

The team started the season by playing in the Earlham Open in which it made a good showing, but failed to place in the upper bracket. The Capital City Tournament at Columbus, Ohio, was followed by the State Tournament at Fort Wayne. The team failed to place in either of the tournaments. In the Old Kentucky Home game at Louisville the team placed third.

On May 8th and 10th, the team went to the National Collegiate tournament and the National Open at Memphis, Tennessee. In the collegiate Earlham won the first match from the Univ. of Tennessee; lost the next two to Florida State, the eventual champions, and the last match to George Williams of Chicago. This put Earlham out of the collegiate. In the open Earlham was defeated by the Dallas A.C., won the next match from Cincinnati and lost the last match to the Plainfield, New Jersey, Y.M.C.A.

Coach Dr. Rousy stated that the team would have been able to make a better showing if they had been more "tournament tough" and if they had participated in a previous National Tournament.

Of this year's team six seniors will be lost through graduation. They are: Dick Light, Captain; Eric Clark, most valuable player; Jim Ross, Yeng Yen Chang, Buzz Duff, and Von Peacock. However, the future of the team looks very promising with numerous freshmen and sophomores returning.

BASEBALL 1957

Moving outside after four weeks of indoor conditioning, Earlham opened its baseball season against the highly praised Butler Bulldogs. Even though Earlham was set back a double-header, valuable experience was gained for foul weather ball playing. The team, plagued by mud-clogged spikes in all but two of the season's games, christened a trend which could result in one of the best teams in Earlham's baseball history next year. After losing two to Butler and two at Franklin, and after a brief respite of winning two at Indiana Central, Earlham settled down to win the first and lose the second game of their double-headers. Not until the last game of the season, when the team set a minor record of pushing across nine runs in one inning, was Earlham able to win the second game of a double-header. The next step in this trend for next year's team will be to take both games of each double-header. They will have to do this without the help of the four graduating seniors; Captain Snyder, Michener, Samuels, and Fledderjohn. However, returning will be the teams "Most Valuable Player" with a B.A. of .526, George Olson. Johnny "Klondike" Nelson, the hardluck pitcher of this season, will have to take up the slack of an excellent 5 won--2 lost pitching record by Snyder this year.

This year's 6-6 season brings to a close Earlham's HCC baseball competition. Catcher Olson, Pitcher Snyder, and Outfielder Youngflesh were named in June to the All-Hoosier Conference Team, thus proving the worth of the 1957 team. Next year will begin a new era for Earlham's diamond men as Earlham moves outside conference play.

TRACK

Earlham's Conference track team was hampered by a numerical lack of men this year. Record holding half-miler Jerry Rushton was unable to complete the season due to illness and several other runners dropped out.

However, though the team lacked depth, it contained several extremely fine athletes. Tom Marvel won the Conference 440 and the 220 yard dash. In the Little State he placed first in the former event with a near record time of :49.5, and took a second place in the latter race.

The mile relay team, consisting of Dave Jenkins, Donn Pegg, Jack Dewitt, and Marvel, took third in the Conference and fourth in the Little State. Donn Pegg helped with a third in the 220 yard dash and a fifth in the 100 yard dash. Terry Hitchcock was valuable in all the dual meets due to his great versatility.

In the distance events Byron Knutsen took a fourth in the Conference mile with the fastest time ever run by an Earlham freshman, four minutes and thirty-six seconds. Later in the Little State he placed seventh. Ray Treadway and Durwood Griffith both did very well during the season.

Coach Bob Meyne will see some of his best men graduate this year. It is hoped that many new athletes will try out next year, particularly for the field events in which Earlham is quite deficient.

FIELD HOCKEY

Players remaining from last year's powerful hockey team, combined with incoming freshmen to fill the gaps, rallied together enthusiastically to present a strong front before their opponents. Defeated only once while playing as an Earlham team, they gained the experience and fun which come from active participation. Of the fifteen girls sent from Earlham to the Miami Valley Tournament, nine were selected to play on the two teams for which they were eligible. Two of these girls, Connie Graham and Thalia Little, were then chosen for the second team of the Great Lake Region to play in the National Tournament at Philadelphia. The season ended with the WRA Hockey Banquet at which Connie Graham was presented with the much-deserved Comstock Award.

ACT III
CLUBS

Senate members ponder upon college problems and policies during their annual meeting in the President's home.

SENATE

The Earlham Senate can be paralleled to an actor's guild, for they both recognize participation by and for those directly concerned in producing desired effects. An ever-increasing role is played by the Senate, its effectiveness broadened as additional understudies take their places upon the stage.

Scenes directed by the Senate are numerous as well as varied. Whether it is a carnival, a drive to aid the Hungarian students, a roller skating party, a culture caravan, the All-College Outing, or the student May Day, the Senate is there as prompter. Cues are given continuously so that the final productions will be successfully received.

Behind the scenes are the five Senate sub-committees hard at work. Handling $15,000 is no small duty for the finance committee, nor is appointing eighteen major campus committees a meager task for the nominating committee. Keeping the entire college community aware of Senate actions is the publicity committee's responsibility, and coordinating the inumerable athletic, departmental, and student activities is for the calendar committee to negotiate. Despite all of these detailed jobs, there is still a weighty load for the activities committee to carry.

Each Senate member is a spokesman for his "audience" at home, and his role is taken seriously. Any play, of course, takes time, patience, and understanding. Thus it is with the Earlham Senate as it arrives at a "sense of the meeting" in its bi-weekly sessions.

STUDENT DIRECTORS

AWS

Pres. Gretchen Schultze, Dorm Presidents Roz Williams and Ann Treadway.

The Association of Women Students is a governmental organ to which all women students automatically belong. The AWS executive board consists of the president and the two dorm presidents. These plus the two class representatives constitute the AWS Council which conducts all necessary business. Dorm life, hours, dating, dress--these are the ever-present concerns of the AWS council. AWS works closely with Senate in making or changing rules or policies which affect the women students.

AMR

The Association of Men Residents is composed of all the men residents of the Earlham Campus. It is the governmental organization which serves as a link between the men students and the Earlham Senate. The AMR also works with the Dean of Men and the head residents to help promote the general welfare of the men on campus.

HONOR BOARD

Earlham's Honor Board is a joint faculty-student committee which is entrusted with the responsibility of overseeing the operation of the Honor System. The Honor Board seeks to promote general understanding of both the operation of and the community's responsibility to the Honor System. It is also responsible for counselling violators of the Honor Code.

By requesting that the incoming new students prepare a few paragraphs to indicate their understanding of the Honor System, the Board is able to focus upon the areas which need further explanation. The Honor Board is, however, not only concerned with student understanding of the present Honor System. It is a self-evaluating board which seeks methods by which the entire system might be clarified and improved.

EARLHAM HALL

BOARD OF MANAGERS

With the completion of the new Earlham Hall, the end of the ten-year building program here at Earlham has been reached. Since this building is primarily for student use, its administration is determined largely by a student board of managers headed by Chairman, Frank Short. The administration of the building is divided into five main areas, each of which is under the direction of a manager and his committee.

The Dining Room Committee under Roz Williams deals with the scheduling of events for the dining room, rules and regulations, the appoarance of the area, and food service in the Student Union.

The Game Room Committee is headed by Marty Walton and is mainly concerned with the first floor parlor. In this room there will be games which may be used during the evening and "after hours" by any student.

The Activities Committee with its chairman, Paul Bigelow, is closely connected to the Game Room Committee. The main purpose of this group is to plan for equipment and activities in the snack bar area, the game room, and in the lounges.

Mickey Justice and her Communications Committee deal with bulletin boards, dining room music, the use of equipment in the communications booth, and the way in which announcements are to be made to the students.

The Smoking Committee under Gordon Bruno is responsible for determining when and where Earlham students may smoke. In addition to this, they are in charge of keeping the smoking room clean and in good condition.

Yet in spite of the fact that old Earlham Hall is now gone, the Earlham tradition is still with us. For in this new dorm there are many similarities to the old building, continuing Earlham's heritage and ideals. With its winding staircase, its grandfather clocks, and its fireplaces, Earlham Hall 1957 is cherished by alumni as well as by present students.

Stars of the musical world are represented by the Concert Choir members who combine individual talents to form perfected group endeavors. Singing at college Meeting, in chapel, and in various college activities are incidental in comparison to a rigid concert schedule. A spring concert tour took them to the East this year as they performed in various churches and schools throughout the area. Directed by Leonard Holvik, this group had as its officers President Bev Nicholson, V. President Dick Searles, Secretary Audrey Santen, Historian Barbara Frost, and Business Manager Tom Hamilton.

MUSIC

Accompaniment for the many Earlham productions is rendered by such organizations as the Band, the Organist's Guild, and the Meeting House Choir.

Faithful instrumentalists come forth during athletic events with vim and vigor under student band directors Hack Hatcher and Don Wood. Larry Apgar sets the example for the organists and, therefore, has numerous aspiring students. Some of the most beautiful music on campus comes from Katherine Griffith's Meeting House Choir. Their harmonious singing sets an atmosphere for the most devout, spiritual worship during Sunday Meetings. Dave Adams is their president.

Other Earlham organizations include the Community Chorus, the Men's and the Women's Glee Clubs, and the Orchestra. These groups, although active during first semester, turned their individual talents toward the production of the year, May Day.

MUSIC TAKES THE STAGE

The above are examples of the wide variety of musical programs offered throughout the year to the entire community. Such distinguished performers stimulate our appreciation for the art of music. Partly supported by the activities fee, and planned by the Music Department these performances are anticipated and truly enjoyed by all. The Artist Series and the Musical Arts Society programs combine to make music a significant part of our education.

DRAMATICS

BOARDS CLUB

The planning, painting, and actual building of the sets for Earlham's dramatic productions are done by this group. They are the "jack-of-all-trades" who work behind the scenes for the enjoyment of the audiences. Imagination, talent, and hard work create impressive atmospheres for Earlham's stage.

MASQUERS

These people are the "Max Factors" of Earlham's dramatic department. After reading the plays and visualizing the traits of a character, they dip into the grease paint and produce amazingly effective results. This year's presentations of TROJAN WOMEN and HENRY IV called forth added talents from the hard working club members who were led by Peggy Diehl, Grace Abell, and Dana Davis.

MASK AND MANTLE

M. & M. members constitute the true stars of Earlham's productions, for they must prove abilities in all phases of dramatic work before they are invited into membership. Upholding good drama is the purpose of this group which also chooses productions for the Earlham stage.

DRAMATICS

"THE MALE ANIMAL"

Earlham's faculty and students excellently portrayed the faculty-student squabbles of this play during the season's first production. Seen here are D. Schneppat, D. Hosler, J. Rhine, D. Stone, D. Barnes, H. Mote, W. Hickins, and B. Stephenson.

FILM SERIES COMMITTEE

This committee is a newly-organized senate affiliated body which combines all the former groups that used to sponsor films. This combination has enabled the committee to present films of a better quality on campus. Some outstanding features this year were "Grapes of Wrath", "The Little World of Don Camillo", "Snake Pit", "Pinky", "Red Shoes", and "Hamlet". Holger Hansen, Nick Asare, Carol J. Baldwin, Robert Bresler, Ron Haldeman, Mr. Agard, and Mr. Greene were responsible for this year's program.

SOCIAL, CULTURAL, AND RECREATIONAL COMMITTEE

This year the SCR Committee has been in charge of the regular Wednesday night dances and on a few occasions has sponsored roller skating parties in the Fieldhouse. During years when there is not a big May Day, this committee plans the all-college culture caravans and sponsors various activities on the campus.

DINING ROOM COMMITTEE

This committee's most obvious duty is to make announcements to the students concerning important events. It also arranges for the faculty-at-home suppers, sponsors the annual Christmas Banquet, and works with AMR and AWS in establishing dress regulations. Bill Spieker served as chairman of a large committee.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM COMMITTEE

Earlham's Development Committee fills a very important post by serving as a link between the Earlham students and donors to the college. Through letters and personal meetings, the Committee lets donors know that the students are aware of and appreciate their financial assistance to Earlham. Working with Mr. Bolling have been Ruth Reynolds, Shirl Humes, Mary Stevens, Dave Mirza, and Dave Fledderjohn.

COMMONS COMMITTEE

The Commons Committee is a student-elected committee which is in charge of making rules pertaining to the student union. After the completion of the new Earlham Hall, the activities of this group will be assumed by the Board of Managers for the new dorm. Under the chairmanship of Kenny Foulke were Fred Siehl, Jim Hamilton, Bunny Smith, Terry Michael, and Eva Marx.

ATTENDANCE COMMITTEE

The attendance Committee is a student-faculty committee which is concerned with student attendance at the regular meetings of chapel and assembly. It determines the times when attendance checks are to be taken and the procedures to use in encouraging students to attend the well-planned programs. Serving on the group were Susan Smith, Charles Williams, Jean Towle, Miss French, and Howard Alexander.

PRECEDENTS COMMITTEE AND NEW STUDENT WEEK STAFF

The NSW Staff and the Precedents Committee combine to help greet all new students to the college campus and to help them adjust to life at Earlham. Both of these bodies are composed of students who schedule activities for NSW. Activities are designed to acquaint the student with Earlham's established traditions and to minimize the hazing practice of former years. Tom Newlin and Dick Light served as co-chairman of the NSW staff with Bev Nicholson and Tom Scully acting as precedents co-chairman.

"E" MEN'S CLUB

The purpose of the "E" Men's Club is to promote interest in intramural and intercollegiate athletics at Earlham and to promote fellowship among the college's athletes off the playing field. Members of the club help officate the HCC cross-country meet in the fall, organize the pregame ceremonies, have a cheering block during basketball season, and help officiate track meets in the spring. The programs available at basketball and baseball game are also furnished by the club. It annually awards "E" blankets to outstanding athletes and its George Van Dyke Award to the student who has contributed the most to athletics at Earlham in the year. Social activities are highlighted by the Awards Banquet and the Strawberry Festival, both in late Spring.

Officers included Tom Kenworthy, President; Lou Wolter, V. President; Gino DiPietro, Treasurer; Dave Kem, Corr. Secretary. Dave Kenworthy served as Recording Secretary for the group.

RED CROSS

The Earlham Red Cross Chapter maintains an active hospital and swimming program. Monthly trips are made to different mental and veteran's hospitals to entertain the patients. Nineteen Earlham students have participated in the handicapped swimming program this year, instructing a total of twenty-nine handicapped children and adults.

Classes qualifying members for the Red Cross Senior Life Saver's certificate and the Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's certificate are additional responsibilities of this group.

Several students have participated in the "Reading for the Blind" program which has enabled a blind Earlham student to hear his reading assignments from tapes.

Hannah Mote acted as President with Ellen Thompson, Secretary, Wayne Vinson as Hospital Chairman, and Margaret Burkes as Water Safety Chairman.

SEATED DEMOCRATS: J. Vaughan, B. Wersan, M. Cavell, B. Weil. STANDING REPUBLICANS: S. March, D. Boren, D. Lamb, A. Rogers, B. Strean, F. Moeller, A. Reynolds, D. Hoffman, L. Leedom, J. Jeffers, W. Rood.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS AND YOUNG REPUBLICANS

A Presidential election year meant a rejuivenation of party politics on the Earlham Campus. During the fall there were numerous opportunities for club members to render services to their party choices and to participate in "grass roots" politics. Campaign materials were distributed, voters were polled, and downtown headquarters were aided by these campus politicians. A mock Presidential election on campus was co-sponsored by these groups on November 3. Dick Hoffman served as Y. Republican's President and Jim Hamilton served as his rival as Democratic President.

Director Peggy Diehl and her enthusiastic dancers prepare for "curtain call" during their program.

CENTRAL COMMUNICATIONS BOARD

This Senate sub-committee acts as an advisory board for Earlham's publications and is composed of faculty and administration members as well as student representatives, campus editors, and business managers. The weekly newspaper, the college yearbook, the literary magazine, and the college handbook comprise the Board's major areas of jurisdiction. In such business endeavors the Board handles approximately $7,000 per year. A photography contest this year encouraged camera fans to contribute work which would also be beneficial to the publications.

It is the duty of the newspaper staff to keep the public informed. This task the 1957 Post Staff did very adequately, but its enthusiasm and spirit led it to greater heights. It not only informed, but it stimulated thought within the community. A devoted staff under Jim Hamilton's leadership progressed steadily throughout the year with regularity and honesty as the backbones of the Post. Next year's satff will include several of the present well-trained personnel and will, therefore, be capable of excellent journalism.

The Sargasso Staff presents the "book of the year" to the Earlham community after a full year of writing, photographing, and compiling its contents. It brings scenes from Earlham life straight to you, along with pictures and reports of the special events of the year. It is the hope of the staff that those who receive the book will be as enthusiastic towards its contents as were those who compiled them.

SPANISH CLUB

It is the purpose of the Spanish Club not only to stimulate an interest in the Spanish language but also to enrich the understanding of Latin American culture. Through movies, slides, and speakers, the students can gain insight into the ways of living of South American people. Officers included Carl Koeller, President; Libby Henshaw, Secretary; Frank Edmondson, Program Chairman.

FRENCH AND GERMAN CLUBS

Also actively participating at Earlham are the French and German Clubs. The students who went to France for a semester's study and the students who presented the German Christmas Pageant indicate the activities of these groups.

UNSO

The United Nations Students Organization was started with the primary aim of helping the Earlham foreign students to adjust to college life. However, its scope has broadened considerably, and this year the organization has been trying to bring in more American members. It wants to become a group where experiences may be shared, and where foreigners and Americans may learn from one another. This has been done on an informal basis during group outings, at a Jamaican tea, and more formally at a dinner to which the members were invited in the Richmond YWCA.

The event that brought the UNSO to the attention of the entire college was United Nations Day, October 24, when the cafeteria was decorated with flags and a special menu of foreign dishes was served. On the Heart the UN flag was flown, and to complete the program, Landrum Bolling spoke in the Meeting House and two movies were shown.

Joe Namata, Anne Bowles, and Margaret Guinness have served as officers this year.

SCIENCE CLUB

It is the purpose of the Science Club to present to the rest of the student body an opportunity to become more familiar with the nature of the scientific method and the progress being made in various fields through its application. The members of the Science Club feel that this function is one of ever-increasing importance because of the enormous role played by technology and research in our modern culture.

This year, the Science Club presented several activities to the student body whereby they could become familiar with several branches of modern technology and its history. Among these were a film on the historic Saugus Iron Works, a field trip to Monsanto Chemical Company in Dayton, Ohio, and a film entitled "Atomic Physics" which familiarized the student with many aspects of both the history and the nature of the discovery and investigation of the atom. Nevin Nolder, Carolyn Wardle, Dave Emerson, and Pat Smith Roy served as officers.

IONIAN

Although the Ionian Society is described by the constitution as a literary, social, and service organization, until very recently literature has been neglected; but a review of ideals and practices has resulted in a re-emphasis of literary activities. The Society will continue its service activities which have included an annual program and party for orphans in the area, taking charge of game programs during football season, sponsoring Homecoming and May Day dances with the Phoenix Band. Additional service is rendered when the need for manpower arises, as in May Day preparations.

Controlled membership and strict standards in regard to payment of dues, attendance at meetings, dress, and language are held by the society which feels that in so doing it can achieve most effectively its social, service and literary objectives.

CHESS CLUB

Recreation and intellectual stimulation are incentives for students who join the chess club. Membership is open to all who are interested in competitive chess. Consisting of the top six boards on the chess ladder the team plays eight matches a year. Team members who have played in at least two matches receive "E" letters at the spring banquet. Increased membership and activities this year predict a promising future for the chess club.

Phoenix is a society for Earlham women which is based on selective scholarship with aims of a literary, social, and service nature. Activities for '56-'57 included monthly entertainment of the Wernle Home Children, co-sponsorship of the Homecoming and May Day Dances with Ionian, publishing the college directory, and active participation of a literary nature in the May Day celebration. This year's portrayal of "The Deluge" with Noah, the Devil, and the Angel will long be remembered. Phoenix ladies enjoyed several banquets with the Ionian men, and were seen ushering at the Musical Arts programs.

Phoenix increased its membership to fifty women during second semester and, therefore, was able to increase its effectiveness on the campus.

Mary Jane Harvey captivates her audience of Wernle Home children and Phoenix women.

YOUNG FRIENDS

Monthly meetings of Y.F.'s help to lay the ground work for the numerous activities which this group undertakes. Christian social concern is expressed through work camps, clothing drives, and other service projects headed by Jim Vaughan. An active Deputations Committee under Keith Kendall plans visits to Friends Meetings in Indiana and Western Yearly Meetings. Jack Kirk is Chairman, with Eleanor Pitman as Recording Clerk and Cynthia Sterling as Treasurer.

LIFE SERVICE FELLOWSHIP

Earlhamite's dedicated to full time Christian service combine ideas, convictions, and actions in order to further their goals. Whether headed for R.E. work, the ministry, or service as a layman, members are welcomed always.

FIRST ROW: C. Lewis, L. Leedom, B. Belser, M. Kingery. SECOND ROW: R. E. Prevo, G. Sherrill, A. Pearce, N. Willson. THIRD ROW: D. Peck, L. Barker, J. Kirk, H. Hansen (?).

PUBLIC OCCASIONS COMMITTEE

The Public Occasions Committee is charged with the responsibility of making arrangements for the assembly and chapel programs. Each year, the committee gathers student and faculty suggestions for speakers for the coming year. In addition to these activities, members of the committee choose student or faculty participants and arrange the order of the program. Von Peacock, Jean Goodman, Dave Levy, Charles Mullendore, and Vaughan Shoemaker have carried out this year's duties.

TRAFFIC COURT

Traffic Court was organized by Senate for the purpose of regulating the use of cars on the Earlham campus. The traffic court sets the speed limits, assigns parking areas, and registers campus cars. This year the increase of cars on campus has caused a parking problem and the court has been working to revise the regulations governing the number of cars allowed on campus. Members have been Don Bowman, Chr., Judy Jeffrey, Roger Cornett, Dick Gore, Alan Wanderer, and Sharon Taylor.

ONE SHIP DRIVES EAST

One ship drives east and another west,
While the selfsame breezes blow;
'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale
That bids them where to go.

Like the winds of the air are the ways of fate
As we journey along through life;
Tis the set of the soul that decides the goal,
And not the storm or the strife.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox
